

Maksym Maksimentsev is doctor of law, PhD in Economics, master of public administration, graduated in the USA as Master of Business Administration (MBA), professor of the Department of Criminal Law and Process, Educational and Scientific Institute of Law in the State Tax University. Previously worked in the field of business planning, worked for UNDP project in Kyiv, Ukraine. He was a long-term deputy chairman in the board of the leading Ukrainian national joint-stock company Nadra Ukrayny (extractive industry). Has professional and official distinctions and awards, including the Certificate of Honor of the Cabinet of Ministers of Ukraine. He is a frequent guest and speaker at various forums organized by the Strategy Council in London, the American Chamber of Commerce and the European Business Association. Constantly implements foreign experience into the educational process, involving foreign colleagues-practitioners and scientists in training sessions.

Gregory Ashley is an American lawyer and, he practiced law in Boston and New York. For the past 15 years, he has lived in Japan where he provides advice and lectures to Japanese corporations, law firms and students. In addition, Mr. Ashley contributes to projects for the Japan International Cooperation Agency (JICA), Japan's primary vehicle for delivering financial and infrastructure assistance to developing nations. He has transitioned into academia in recent years and now serves as a Specially Appointed Professor of Law at Rikkyo University in Tokyo. He also teaches corporate governance to global business students at Chuo University in Tokyo. Gregory Ashley also holds classes in Legal English.

